Architectural Firm of Kehrt Shatken Sharon Wins Contest to Design New Township Hall

Four years after being selected and then rejected by Township Committee to be the architect for the Township's new municipal building, the architectural firm Kehrt Shatken Sharon of Princeton has won first prize for the design it submitted to the Township-sponsored architectural contest seeking ideas for the municipal complex. Entries were identified by number only and were judged anonymously by a nine-member jury.

The irony of this was not lost on Allan Kehrt, KSS principal in charge of the team that did the design, or on Rafael Sharon, who was the principal negotiator with the Township four years ago. "We feel very good about this," Mr. Kehrt told the audience at the press conference held last Thursday to announce the winners, all of whom are Princeton architects.

KSS will receive an award of $10,000 and will be the first to negotiate with Committee for a contract to design the complex. Second place and $5,000 went to Richardson Smith Architects, who will be next in line if negotiations with KSS do not produce an agreement. The third place winner was Myers Associates, with an award of $2,500 and third in line for negotiations. The nine-member jury awarded an honorable mention to Daniel Rew and Pamela Lucas Rew, who submitted an entry independently.

The charrette, conceived by the Township as an "ideas competition," was conducted over a three-day period from June 5 to 8 and drew 34 entries from Philadelphia, Princeton, New York and other parts of New Jersey. More than 600 architectural firms were solicited from throughout the metropolitan region. The event was managed by Princeton Design Guild (Kevin Wilkes, Mark Hewitt and Alan Goodheart, principals) acting as architectural advisor to the Township.

The jury, composed of six Township representatives and three architectural professionals, spent all day June 12 evaluating the entries. By noon they had selected 10 finalists and began to discuss the merits of each. In the afternoon, they winnowed these finalists to four schemes seen as most likely to satisfy their criteria for a winning design. The final three hours, from 3 to 6, were spent in a debate over the merits of these four schemes.

According to the jurors' report, KSS emerged as first in all three ballots that were taken, with second and third separated by only a few votes. The KSS entry was praised by architect Peter Waldman of the

Opponents, Proponents Of the Millstone Bypass Plead Cases at Hearing

The Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission held hearings in Trenton last week on highway improvements that are proposed to be included in a transportation improvement plan that would receive federal transportation money and would carry through the year 2020.

One of the improvements on the list is the Millstone Bypass. As currently designed this 2.3-mile two-lane roadway would extend from the bridge carrying Washington Road over the railroad tracks in West Windsor, its eastern end, cross Route 1 in an overpass between Harrison Street and Fisher Place, and head west hugging the edge of Princeton University-owned property to rejoin Washington Road. A section of Washington Road between Route 1 and where the bypass joined it east of the bridge over Lake Carnegie would be abandoned, as would a section of lower Harrison Street. The overpass at Route 1 would allow the elimination of three traffic lights at Washington Road, Fisher Place and Harrison Street.

Members of Sensible Transportation Options Partnership (STOP) joined Borough and Township officials in asking the DVRPC not to include the Millstone Bypass, as it is currently designed, on the list. Two days later a group of West

Free Community Bicycles Suggested As Way to Put Princeton on Wheels

Could the day be approaching when someone hurrying to catch the Dinky will be able to get to the station on wheels borrowed from the Borough? This possibillity is expected to be discussed at the Tuesday evening, June 24, meeting of Borough Council.

Sandy Brillhart, of the Mercer Transportation Management Association (TMA), recently got in touch with Borough Mayor Marvin Reed to tell him that the State would like to see free bikes tried in New Jersey. She said Princeton — particularly for connections to the Dinky rail station — is a natural for such a program.

Proponents assert that such a program provides an alternative to pollution, promotes more efficient transportation, builds hope and trust, assists in community policing, burns calories, and gets unused bikes under needy riders.

A free community bike progam has been successful in Portland, Oregon, and this might prove a model if Princeton were to go forward.

D&R Greenway Plans Canoe Trip For This Saturday

Delaware & Raritan Greenway is sponsoring a canoe trip at the Hamilton/Trenton Marsh on Saturday, June 28, from 8 to noon. Tom Wilkins and members of the Mohawk Canoe Club will lead the trip along Watson Creek, a tributary of Crosswicks Creek.

The Hamilton/Trenton Marsh spans over 1,250 acres and includes several ponds, five creeks, the Delaware & Raritan Canal, and the Delaware River. The marsh harbors a bounty of natural resources, including many diverse habitats, more than 700 species of plants, 234 species of birds, and many more mammals, reptiles, and amphibians. Steeped in history, the Marsh includes the Abbott Farm National Historic Landmark where indigenous tribes once thrived.

This trip is open to the public. Registration is limited and participants are asked to register early. The registration deadline is Wednesday, June 18. The registration fee per person to rent a canoe is $20 for members, and $25 for nonmembers. The maximum per canoe is two adults and two children under 16. Children under 16 are free when accompanied by two adults.

Singles will be matched with partners if possible. If you bring your own canoe, the cost is $5 per canoe for members and $10 per canoe for nonmembers. For more information or to register, call the Hamilton/Trenton Marsh Hotline at 452-0525. Directions and information will be sent upon receipt of registration.

Agreement on Auto Insurance

An agreement reached by Gov. Christie Whitman and top Republican legislators on an automobile insurance bill is expected to be approved by both legislative houses on Thursday.

The measure ends automatic annual rate increases, prevents insurance companies from dropping policy holders for no reason, and cracks down on fraud.

Most drivers are likely see little or no reduction in premiums under the revised bill, which does little to reduce the actual cost of providing insurance in the state. New Jersey auto insurance bills are the highest in the nation.

Committee Approves Budget

Both houses are expected to vote on a $16.8 billion state budget for the next fiscal year. The spending plan was approved Monday by the budget and appropriations committees of the State Senate and Assembly.

The budget document, which must be signed by Gov. Whitman before July 1, would raise spending by more than half a billion dollars. Much of the extra money would go to urban schools, state social workers, and higher education.

This increase can be accommodated without raising taxes because revenues are up this year. This is due to the boom on Wall Street, a strong state economy, and a pension bond sale that permitted the State to avoid paying $590 million in pension payments.

Abortion Bon Veto

Gov. Whitman conditionally vetoed a law approved by the Legislature that would ban so-called "partial birth" abortions. She said she would sign it only if the law included exemptions for the health of a woman, as well as for her life.

The governor said she is personally opposed to the medical practice, but called the legislation "an extension of government oversight into the most intimate sanctum of human life."

Expanding Child Core Options

The Assembly has introduced a bipartisan package of bills that would raise the maximum number of children cared for in a registered family day care home from five to 10. It would also offer tax incentives and grants to businesses and neighborhood organizations that create child care centers.

Money to Demolish Buildings

Voters in November will get to approve or reject a $20 million bond to demolish dangerous buildings.

State Sen. Ronald Rice, D-Essex, the bill's sponsor, said, "Drug dealers and other criminals use these abandoned buildings as their headquarters and as invitations to commit unspeakable acts."

Assembly Acts on Freeze

The Assembly has voted to freeze property taxes for low-income senior citizens and the disabled at the 1996 level. The bill must be approved by the Senate and signed by the Governor.

To qualify, a citizen must be a home owner, be at least 65 years old, and have been a state resident for at least 10 years. A single person must have an income of $17,550 or less and a couple $21,519 or less.

It is estimated this will cost $20 million in the first year and $140 million in 10 years. It will be paid for from the casino revenue fund.

DEP's Consultant Issues Report Critical of Route 92; Claims Traffic Data Fails to Support Need for Highway

A consultant for the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) has issued a report that says that traffic data supplied by the Turnpike Authority does not support a need for Route 92.

The report by Environmental Partners was submitted to the DEP and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The two agencies are trying to determine whether the Turnpike Authority should be granted a wetlands permit for the construction of the 6.7-mile limited access highway that would connect Route 1 with Turnpike Exit 8A.

The report echoed objections to the project made last January by the EPA. The Turnpike Authority then made design modifications to reduce the amount of wetlands presented additional traffic data to the DEP and EPA. The EPA held a public hearing June 10 at the request of the DEP at which arguments pro and con the roadway were made by affected municipalities and residents.

In its report, Environmental Partners concurs with the Turnpike Authority that South Brunswick, Plainsboro and Monroe are currently experiencing heavy traffic volumes on local roads and intersections. However, it goes on to say that construction of Route 92 will have little or no effect on these roadway segments in comparison with the no-build alternative.

The report further states that Route 92 will not decrease traffic enough to eliminate delays at intersections and links that are not being reconfigured as part of the project. It also suggests that traffic volumes on Route 1 south of its intersection with Route 92 near Ridge Road are expected to increase if Route 92 is built.

The report says that Route 92 will marginally improve congestions at Plainsboro Road during peak periods, but the level of service at Dey Road would be worse with the highway than without it. This finding completely contradicts a traffic study commissioned by Plainsboro Township, which said that several additional turning lanes would have to be added at the Dey Road/Scudders Mill Road if Route 92 is not built.

Finally, the Environmental Partners report says Route 92 will reduce truck traffic on local east-west roads and on Route 1 north of the proposed highway, and that truck traffic will increase along Route 1 south.

make the bikes distinguishable. To start, ten bikes were repaired, painted and adorned with signs identifying them as free community bikes and indicating that they were to be returned to a main street after use.

Eventually 60 bikes — most of them donated — were on active duty around the city. Officials estimate that it will take 1000 yellow bikes in Portland for the program to reach critical mass. (No comparable figure has yet been devised for Princeton).

Mayor Reed expressed some concern that a town with a bike theft reputation like Princeton's may be too inviting for free bikes. "On the other hand," he said, "the yellow might make the difference and the availability of them may actually reduce the yen to 'borrow' elsewhere."

Sprucing Up Bank St.

Mayor and Council were also scheduled to hear a request from Bank Street residents for a number of municipal improvements. Bank Street is one of the Borough's current historic districts, along with the Central Business District, Mercer Hill, and Jugtown.

A petition signed by 30 residents lists a number of improvements they feel would "insure the improved physical and visual character, historic charm, economic value, and quality of life to their street."

The requests include new sidewalks in historic materials, patterns, and colors; new curbing; new pedestrian-scaled decorative lighting (preferably Victorian gas lights); replacement of removed street trees; underground electric, telephone, and cable lines; and road resurfacing.

Council was also expected to be asked by HiTops for rental assistance. The teen sexuality counseling center had rented space in the rear of Familyborn, at the corner of Tulane and Wiggins Streets, but this building is now being sold.

It has found new space in the former AAMH site at 145 Witherspoon Street. This is twice the size of the current space, and some of it could be sublet, but it is also twice the current rent.

HiTops is asking the Borough and Township each to consider granting it $4,500 a year, the equivalent of one-and-a-half month's rent.

In a memo to Council, Mayor Reed asked whether support for HiTops has ever been considered for inclusion in the Health Commission's community health program, or whether it has been thought of as part of the proposed reorganized Joint Department of Social Services.

entire Route 1 corridor should be carried out to assess the extent to which grade-separations, turning lanes and other traffic control measures can reduce or eliminate the need for the project," the report said.

The Turnpike Authority has countered with a seven-page response prepared by its consultants. The Authority said that Environmental Partners' conclusions are "contrary to those of the Turnpike Authority's experts and do not take into account the position of the N.J. Department of Transportation, Middlesex County, Plainsboro Township, MSM Regional Council and others that he concurred with the findings and needs of the Route 92 project."

At the June 10 hearing, the Turnpike Authority's chief engineer, John Kunna, said that the report by Environmental Partners contained several inaccuracies resulting from selective analysis and formulates conclusions based on misinterpretations of traffic data.

Hoagie Shop Settles Lawsuit by Donating 1,000 Sandwiches

The Hoagie Haven shop on Nassau Street has agreed to donate 1,000 hoagie sandwiches to Princeton-area nonprofit groups, in partial settlement of a lawsuit filed against the store by a former employee, Yousry el Baridi.

Mr. el Baridi, who was a cook for the establishment, filed the lawsuit in 1995, alleging violation of the wage and hour laws. The store has denied all of Mr. el Baridi's allegations, according to attorney Diane Lamb, of Wolf Professional Association, the Mount Laurel law firm representing Hoagie Haven. Ms. Lamb explained that the store had volunteered to make the donation of hoagies to avoid the cost of litigation.

The Princeton Multicultural Day Camp, a summer program for children organized by the Princeton Housing Authority and the Mercer County Hispanic Association, will be the first beneficiary of the donation, according to Bruce Afran, attorney for the plaintiff, along with Borough councilman Roger Martindell. The hoagies will be served as part of the camp's lunch program, Mr. Afran said.

STRIPPED CLEAN: George Brown Jr., of Hunt Drive, holds up a strip of bark that was peeled off a 35-year-old white ash on his property. The tree was split from top to bottom by a bolt of lightning on Sunday night, sending the branches to the ground and causing all of the bark to fall off the trunk and limbs.

Man Watches Lightning Shred 35-Year-Old Tree

George Brown, of Hunt Drive, was pulling into his driveway in the midst of Sunday evening's violent electrical storm when he heard what he recalls as "a tremendous crash." He turned his head just in time to see a 35-year-old white ash tree next to his driveway split right down the middle, rent by a lightning bolt. "The two sides just split apart and feli gently to the ground," he says.

The aftermath of the lightning bolt was something to see. The branches all bowed to the ground, and every square inch of bark on the trunk and on the major limbs peeled off in wide strips, leaving the tree looking like nothing so much as a peeled banana.

Mr. Brown, a semi-retired engineer, reported that the tree was a sapling when his parents bought the Hunt and Augustine home in 1964.

A nearby pin oak tree was untouched by the lightning bolt, which Mr. Brown attributes to a lightning rod system that he had installed on the tree itself. The pin oak and several other trees on the property are essential to the design of the house, Mr. Brown remarked, and he was thankful that it was the white ash that the lightning found. "It was actually my least favorite of the trees," he said.

Borough Woman Leaves Two Con Artists (Not) Holding the Bag in Theft Attempt

A Borough woman, after coming perilously close to being duped herself, struck a blow a week ago Tuesday for everyone who has ever fallen victim to a con artist.

The woman, whose name was not released by police, had handed over $850 to a pair of con artists, one of whom had convinced her that he held a winning lottery ticket and would pay her $2,000 to help him claim the winnings. Her $850 was meant to be a show of "good faith."

The man had put money of his own into an envelope along with the victim's cash. Just as he was about to complete the classic "bait and switch," which would have left the victim holding an envelope stuffed with worthless scraps of paper, she realized that he had a second envelope hidden under his shirt.

The near-victim quickly grabbed both envelopes and ran from the scene. In one of the envelopes, she found her own money, plus $191 that the con artist had placed there as proof of his own good faith.

The botched theft began as many con scams perpetrated in the area over the past several years also have. The victim was approached by a man at 12:45 p.m. on the corner of Witherspoon Street and Franklin Avenue. As he spun his tale about needing assistance to cash in the lottery ticket, a woman in on the scheme approached, posing as a casual passer-by. With the victim listening, the man attempted to convince the newcomer to help him also.

The same scheme, with slight variations, has been pulled off successfully at least a dozen times in the Borough and Township in the past several years. This time, however, it was the con artists' own money, and not just their descriptions, that found its way to the Borough Police Department.

The woman, having recovered her own money, handed over the remainder to the Borough police, and described the would-be thieves. Both are Latino, and appear to be approximately 35 years old. The man stands 5'4 and weighs approximately 140 pounds. His accomplice is approximately 4'7 and weighs about 140 pounds.

Community Park Pool Site of Several Thefts

In four separate incidents, people enjoying Community Park pool in this weekend's blistering heat were burned by thieves, police reported.

Two bicycles were stolen from outside the pool on Thursday. An unlocked Royce Union BMX bike valued at $150 was taken from the bicycle rack between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. A Hufly, also valued at $150 was stolen between 2:30 p.m. and 3:15 p.m. It had been left unlocked as well.

On Saturday, between 4:20 p.m. and 5 p.m., a thief picked up a zippered bag that a bather had left on the ground. It was recovered sometime later near some bushes on the pool grounds, but a $25 watch had been removed.

A gym bag was stolen between 7 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Saturday. It contained a wallet with $400 in cash, a credit card, and other documents. The bag and wallet were recovered in the men's room, minus the cash and the credit card.

A Huffy valued at $150 was stolen from outside a Redding Circle residence between 6 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. Sunday. It had been left unlocked.

Someone burglarized into a 1989 Toyota left parked at the STS store on Route 206 between 6 p.m. June 14 and 4 p.m. June 16. Removed from the car was a $200 stereo system. Police do not know how entry was gained.

Police arrested 30-year-old John Boulton, of unknown address, on a $150 warrant issued by the town of Fairton. Police were called by a Greenhouse Drive resident early in the evening of June 16, after Mr. Boulton was seen in the neighborhood asking people for food.

Mr. Boulton fit the description of a man who had been asking residents of the Washington Oaks development for money earlier the same day.

Police arrested James Lapko, 26, of 31 Locust Lane on Thursday evening, charging him with disorderly conduct.

According to police, several passers-by stopped a patrol officer on Palmer Square at approximately 10:22 p.m. to inform him that Mr. Lapko was sleeping on a park bench nearby. The officer attempted to awaken Mr. Lapko, who allegedly became abusive and shoved the officer. He was then placed under arrest

Drug Arrests

A Trenton man was arrested in the Borough at 8:35 a.m. Saturday morning, charged with possession of heroin, possession of drug paraphernalia, and a host of motor vehicle offenses.

Patrolman Nicholas Sutter pulled over the truck driven by Carlos A. Rodriguez, 42, of South Clinton Avenue, after noticing that the inspection sticker in the window had been tampered with. While speaking with Mr. Rodriguez, the officer noticed the end of a hypodermic syringe sticking out of the waist of Mr. Rodriguez's pants.

Officer Sutter removed Mr. Rodriguez from the car, and a search of the vehicle revealed a plastic bag containing heroin. Mr. Rodriguez was later released with a summons to appear in court.

Police charged a Kingston man with possession of marijuana after a traffic stop early Tuesday morning. The vehicle driven by Andrew S. Siroki, 38, of Euclid Avenue, was pulled over at 6:58 a.m.

While speaking with Mr. Siroki, the officer noticed the butts of two hand-rolled cigarettes in the car. Further investigation led the officer to believe that the cigarettes contained marijuana, and Mr. Siroki was placed under arrest.

He was later released on his own recognizance, pending a June 30 court appearance.

Three juveniles found smoking marijuana on the roof of the Hulfish Street Parking Garage on Thursday night were arrested by members of the Borough bicycle patrol.

According to police, the officers observed the three youths passing a suspicious cigarette back and forth, and when they approached the group, discovered that it was marijuana.

Two 16-year-olds, one from the Borough and one from the Township, and a 15-year-old from the Borough, were all taken into custody. They were later released to their guardians, pending action by the juvenile officer.

Bank Bomb Scare

A bomb scare at PNC Bank on Palmer Square cleared the building for a short while Thursday morning.

According to police, a man telephoned the bank at 10:44 a.m., claiming that there was a bomb on the premises. The building was cleared while police and employees searched the interior for suspicious devices. When none were found, employees and customers were allowed back in.

Police reported that the man who phoned in the threat sounded as though he were between 30 and 40 years of age. He is also described as having a "Middle Eastern" accent. Police said that were anyone to be charged in the incident, they would face allegations of causing a false public alarm.

A Batman and Robin compact disc valued at $15.99 was shoplifted from a Nassau Street store between 2:40 and 3:20 p.m. on Thursday.

Police suspect two juvenile males who were spotted in the store near the time of the theft.

A 1986 Honda was stolen from South Stanworth Drive between 10:15 p.m. on Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday. The car and a number of items inside it were valued at a combined $10,040.

The vehicle was recovered on Monday by Trenton police, who found it stripped of its license plates on Randall Avenue. Police did not yet know whether or not the victim's property had been recovered.

A thief stole a $310 Schwinn bicycle and a VCR of unknown value from the Quadrangle Club on Prospect Avenue. The theft took place between 11 p.m. June 17 and 9 a.m. the next morning.

Someone entered the Charter Club, on Prospect Avenue, through an unlocked door at approximately 3:30 a.m. Monday. Shortly thereafter, member discovered that a 4' X 5' framed collection of each member's picture had been stolen.

The value of the stolen property was placed at $500.

Wading Pools Open

Beginning this week, the Recreation Department is staffing the John Street wading pool and playground, through August 15.

The playground will be staffed from 9 to noon and 1 to 4, Monday through Friday. Board games and the wading pool will be available to the residents of Princeton. Children younger than 5 years of age must be accompanied by a parent or sibling.

The Harrison Street wading pool will begin operations on Monday, June 30 and continue through August 8. The wading pool will be staffed Monday through Friday 10 to noon.

Forum, Street Theater Planned by Coalition

The Coalition for Peace Action is planning an educational forum and a street theater to oppose commencement by U.S. nuclear weapons labs of so-called subcritical nuclear experiments at the Nevada Test Site. The experiments would be part of a larger "Stockpile Stewardship Program" which may enable continued development of new nuclear warheads, thereby undermining the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty signed by the U.S. and more than 150 other nations.

The educational forum will be held on Thursday, June 26, at 8 in the Assembly Room of Nassau Presbyterian Church, 61 Nassau Street. It will feature a slideshow and commentary by Lisa Ledwidge, research analyst in the national office of Physicians for Social Responsibility. Following Ms. Ledwidge's presentation on the Stockpile Stewardship Program, there will be a response by Dr. Theodore Taylor, a former nuclear weapons designer who is currently a Visiting Fellow at Princeton University. The evening will conclude with refreshments.

On Saturday, June 28, a street theater/rally on the theme "Subcritical Is Hypocritical" will be held from noon to 1 at Palmer Square. A large banner with the theme will be displayed. The street theater will consist of a person dressed up as a duck, but saying they are really a dove. It builds on the old adage, "If it walks like a duck and talks like a duck, it is probably a duck."

Speaking at the street theater/rally will be Dr. Suzanne Jones, a Princeton University scientist who recently co-authored an article in the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists on the subject of subcritical nuclear experiments.

A final component of both events will be the opportunity to send soda-type cans wrapped with a message to President Clinton and to New Jersey Senators Lautenberg and Torricelli calling on them to help "can," i.e. cancel, the subcritical tests. Both events are free and open to the public.

For information call 924-5022 or e-mail cfpa@cyber-enet.net.

Princeton Friends School Awarded Teaching Grant

Princeton Friends School has received one of ten grants awarded to New Jersey elementary school from the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation to establish programs in Chinese language instruction.

The grants were part of a $100,000 Foundation initiative which is the natural extension of a long-term, $3.1 million investment made over 15 years to have Mandarin offered to students across America as part of their regular language instruction. Princeton Friends School is the only independent school in New Jersey to receive one of the ten grants awarded for this program.

The grant has allowed Princeton Friends School to hire a native speaking Chinese teacher, Jiang Heping, who grew up in Beijing where she received a degree in statistics from Renmin University of China. She comes to Princeton Friends School through Professor Perry Link, of Princeton University's East Asian Studies program and consultant to the Dodge Foundation.

LINKING LIVES: Princeton High School student Adam Fried and Cora Brown became friends through LINK, a program sponsored by the Princeton Senior Resource Center that links seniors with PHS students.

LINK Program Ends Year With Party for Participants

"She brings the world outside into my house every week."..."We have great long talks!"..."I have a bad back—he does the jobs around the house I cannot do anymore."..."The past and present come together as I tell him about my life and he tells me about his."..."When she visits, I feel I'm a part of the world again—I don't feel so lost."

These are just a few of the many comments from the seniors who participate in The Local Intergenerational Network of Kindness, or LINK, a program sponsored by the Princeton Senior Resource Center that matches up a homebound senior with a Princeton High School student. Each week the LINK students visit their senior friends for conversation and odd jobs around the house.

The program ended the year with a pool party, with hoagies provided by George's Roasters and Ribs and ice cream provided by Thomas Sweet Ice Cream. Thirty seniors and students attended and shared their thoughts about what the program has meant to them. For information about LINK, call the Princeton Senior Resource Center at 924-7108.

Saving, Debt Reduction Goals in Finance Course

The Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Mercer County is offering a personal finance course called Money 2000. Part of a statewide program, Money 2000 is designed to increase the financial well-being of New Jersey residents through increased saving and reduced household debt.

Specifically, 2,000 residents in each of New Jersey's 21 counties will be encouraged to save and/or reduce debt by $2,000 by the end of the year 2000. If this objective is achieved the dollar impact upon New Jersey residents will be $84 million.

A course will be offered this summer on Tuesday, July 8, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Mercer County Library in Lawrenceville. The deadline to register is Monday, July 7. Participants will be introduced to basic financial planning and budgeting. Practical applications for increasing savings and decreasing debt will be the focus. There will be free give-aways to all attendees.

The program is free. Participants will be asked to complete a brief registration form. There is no fee or age or income level required to enroll.

Participants will determine their individual Money 2000 program goal, which can be an increase in savings, a reduction of debt or a combination of both. No submission of financial data will be requested at anytime.

Rutgers Cooperative Extension will provide participants with quarterly newsletters, seminars and presentations. Money 2000 participants can enroll anytime before the end of the year 2000. The earlier they enroll, the more time they will have to achieve their goals. As they achieve their goals, they will receive a certificate of achievement.

A picnic and prizes for participants are also planned for the year 2000.

Animal Hideaways Focus Of Discovery Search

Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, located on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township, and the Washington Crossing Audubon Society, are co-sponsoring a discovery program entitled "Who Lives There?" on Saturday, June 28, from 10 to noon for families and adults.

Participants will hike through the Watershed trails to search for a variety of animal homes and hideaways. They will learn where honeybees make hives, and what animals live under a rotton log, and they will inspect tracks and trails and other clues to finding animal homes.

The program is free but pre-registration is required and enrollment is limited.

To register call 737-7592.

Firemen's Parade Down Nassau Street To be Held Friday

The annual Princeton Firemen's Inspection Parade will take place Friday, June 27. It will begin at 7 p.m. at the corner of Nassau and Chestnut streets.

The parade will go down Nassau Street to Borough Hall, where there will be an inspection by members of Borough Council and Township Committee. Ceremonies will include recognition of department members with 25 or more years of active service.

The parade will include the three companies that comprise the Princeton Fire Department: Hook & Ladder, Mercer Engine Co. No. 3, and Princeton Engine Co. No. 1. Also participating will be the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad and the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The first firemen's inspection by a Princeton governing body was held on July 10, 1884.

Major Renovation Planned At Route 1 MarketFair

A $7 million renovation program will bring new retailers, a new food court with restaurants, and a completely renovated United Artists theater complex to MarketFair, located on Route 1 in West Windsor.

The center, which opened in 1987, recently negotiated an early termination of the lease for Oshman's Super Sports USA to prepare for subdivision of the space and the introduction of a new restaurant concept and a nationally known home furnishings and accessories store. Renovations will begin following Oshman's closing.

The United Artists theater complex is actively preparing for a comprehensive overhaul of its theaters, including a change to stadium seating. The lobby area is also slated for renovation. The possibility of an expansion to increase movie choices through additional theaters is also being explored.

MarketFair is investing in excess of $1 million dollars in a new food court,which is currently being themed and designed by Berlin/Hayden Architectural Partnership of Princeton.

"We are making substantial financial investments to enhance our customers' shopping and entertainment experience," said Matthew Klutznick, the new general manager of MarketFair. "We have invested well over $100,000 on new signage and are installing a new pylon sign on Route 1 by midsummer which was recently approved by the West Windsor Planning Board. We are also investing another $100,000 to replace kiosk structures throughout the center with appealing units which will enhance the center's sight lines."

Princeton Community Foundation Grants More Than $100,000 to Local Agencies

The Princeton Area Community Foundation (PACF), a public charity holding an endowment of nearly $3 million, recently awarded $107,600 to 26 organizations under its Greater Mercer Grants. Grantees were chosen through a competitive proposal process from 58 applications. The Greater Mercer Grants are designed to support projects across the county that encourage grass roots, community development efforts and reach the neediest of the needy.

Last spring the PACF awarded $55,000 in Greater Mercer Grants to 19 area programs. This year grant dollars have nearly doubled thanks to both the growth of PACF's unrestricted funds and collaborations with local donors and the Harbourton Foundation who look to the Foundation's grantmaking expertise to help direct their charitable giving.

The non-profit agencies who received awards are: The 24 Club of Princeton for facility upgrades; Hightstown's Better Beginnings' Peace Party and Toy Weapon Exchange; Bootstraps Self Help Homes & Communities for its West Windsor project; Boys & Girls Club of Trenton/Mercer County's Get A J.O.B. program; Community Action Service Center, providing assistance to Hightstown-East Windsor's Latino immigrants; Corner House of Princeton's teens-performing-for-teens education programs; Crawford House's Dierks House in Lawrenceville, a residence for women recovering from alcoholism; Crisis Ministry of Princeton and Trenton's rental assistance program; Enable's Community Connections county-wide volunteer program to assist the disabled; The Exchange Club of Greater Princeton's professional bus driver to expand activities for homeless families;

Also, Family & Children's Services of Central NJ's family-child early intervention program; Family Guidance Center's counseling for Union Industrial Home's First Steps and Operation Fatherhood programs; Habitat for Humanity's East Trenton Center; Interfaith Caregivers of Greater Trentnn's volunteers helping the homebound; Isles' Community Gardens in Trenton; Newgrange School's Learning Disabilities/Literacy Initiative serving the county; Planned Parenthood's Hightstown Latina Health Project; Princeton Community Housing's Griggs Farm After School Program; Princeton Housing Authority's Clay Street Learning Center; Princeton Senior Resource Center's national accreditation process;

Also, Princeton Young Achievers' bilingual tutoring support; the Rescue Mission of Trenton for 100 replacement mattresses for the women's and men's shelters; Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association's scholarships for Summer Environmental Day Camp; Stuart Country Day School's summer education program for Trenton youth; Thomas Edison State College's Trenton NetDay wiring and computer installation; and, Young Scholars' Institute's College Admissions Workshops for Trenton high school students and their parents.

Those interested in receiving information about the Princeton Area Community Foundation should call Nancy Kleiling, Executive Director, at 520-1700.

HiTops Benefit Seeks Auction Items, Sponsors

The 1997 HiTops Benefit Committee is well under way with planning for the November 8 gala, to be held at Merrill Lynch & Co. on Scudders Mill Road in Plainsboro. Cathy Loevner, Karen Lomax (co-chairs), Debbie Dorman, Mary Harrison, and Kimberly von Brandenstein, are creating an evening of fun, fantasy, and flight, with "Up! Up! and Away!" as the title and theme.

HiTops is entering its 10th year and is experiencing "growing pains" due to an increase in demand for services and the need to find a new space to house the HiTops program. This gala is HiTops major annual fundraising event and the committee hopes to raise $80,000 to help meet its budget needs. To accomplish this goal, they are busy soliciting for unique and coveted items for the Silent Auction and for a new addition, the "Board Auction."

The committee is also looking for corporate sponsorship to help underwrite the costs of the gala. Corporate sponsorship makes it possible for a larger portion of the funds raised to go directly toward supporting the educational and clinical programs for area teens.

To volunteer to help with the benefit, to get information about corporate sponsorship, to donate items to the auction, or to learn more about HiTops, call 683-5155.

Point-and-Shoot Cameras Needed for Youth Project

Young Audiences of New Jersey and The Exchange Club have put the call out for used point-and-shoot cameras in good working condition. These cameras will be put to use in The Ennis Beley Project, a 12-week project that allows Trenton pre-teens to spend their summer learning the art and business of photography.

All cameras must be in good working condition to be useful. Manuals are not necessary, but would be of great benefit.

The children participating in this program will take classes in the art of photography, practice what they have learned with chosen photographer-mentors, and visit professional Trenton photographers at work in fields such as journalism and advertising. At the end of the summer, they will curate an exhibit of their own work for display in Trenton.

This project is named in memory of a Los Angeles teen named Ennis Beley, whose talent for photojournalism was discovered when he was 12, and who died in a gang-related shooting a few days before his 15th birthday. It is funded in part by The Princeton Area Community Foundation, The Junior League of Greater Princeton, and in-kind donations from Bristol-Myers Squibb and others.

Anyone with a point-and-shoot to donate, or in need of additional information, can call the offices of Young Audiences of New Jersey at 683-7966 or stop by at 247 Nassau Street between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Crafters Invited

Applications from crafters wishing to participate in the 24th annual Princeton YWCA Crafters' Marketplace must be postmarked no later than July 1. A late fee is charged.

The annual Crafters' Marketplace will be held Saturday and Sunday, November 22 and 23 at John Witherspoon Middle School. This is a quality juried show that benefits the YWCA's Pearl Bates Scholarship Fund.

More than 130 crafters will be selected to participate. Approximately 2500 people are expected to attend the show. For information and application forms call 497-2100.

PLANNING HITOPS GALA: The 1997 HiTops Benefit Committee is well on its way planning the November 8 gala to be held at Merrill Lynch & Co. on Scudders Mill Road. They are looking for volunteers, auction items and corporate sponsorship. The number to call is 683-5155.

Hillsborough Club to Host Polo Classic For Alzheimer Ass'n

When Princeton land baron Bryce Thompson purchased the Hillsborough Country Club in Hillsborough Township 12 years ago, it wasn't because he liked to play golf.

In fact, he doesn't play golf. As a former teaching tennis pro at one stage in his varied career, he was motivated to add the four omni courts to the club, but not to take up the game of golf. Mr. Thompson was much more interested in the fact that the land afforded him an opportunity to showcase the game of polo, a game near and dear to his heart. On Sunday, June 29, for the tenth year in a row, the Hillsborough Country Club will host the 1997 Polo Classic for the northern New Jersey Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association.

The Polo Classic opens at 1. There will be a tailgating contest, children's activities, a classic car exhibit and parade. The polo match begins at 3 and includes audience participation in the the traditional divot stomping routine between matches. After the matches there will be a California Dream Getaway Raffle drawing, hot air ballooning and other activities.

General admission is $10 per person. Reserved tailgating fieldside parking is priced at $25 per carload. Children under 12 are admitted free.

The Hillsborough Country Club overlooks the Amwell Valley and is at the foothills of the Sourland Mountains.

Mr. Thompson has transformed the grounds below the driving range to a huge polo field that polo players consider top notch. With matches held throughout the summer, the most impressive is the benefit held for the Alzheimer's Association. It is a great opportunity for those who have never had an opportunity to experience the game of polo and to see what the sport is about.

Mr. Thompson will be riding in the Polo Classic.

For more information about the Hillsborough Country Club call (908) 369-3322. For ticked sales for the Alzheimer's Association Polo Classic call (201) 316-6676.

POLO ENTHUSIAST: Bryce Thompson, owner of Hillsborough Golf and Country Club in Neshanic Station, does warm-up exercises at the club's polo grounds in preparation for the upcoming Polo Class to benefit the Alzheimer's Association Northern New Jersey Chapter. The event will be held Sunday, June 29, at the club and is open to the public.

Volunteers Needed To Check-Out Hunger

Hunger is a problem affecting almost a million people in New Jersey. Although the unemployment rate is the lowest it has been in many years, New Jersey's housing costs are higher than the national average, often forcing low-wage workers to choose between paying rent and utilities or buying food. The elderly poor, another vulnerable segment of the population, also face hunger without the assistance of local charitable feeding programs.

The Community FoodBank of New Jersey and major supermarkets - A&P, Acme, Foodtown, Grand Union, Kings, Pathmark and Shop-Rite - are looking for volunteers to join forces in the Check-Out Hunger campaign in communities all over New Jersey.

Check-Out Hunger is a statewide program that makes it easy for supermarket shoppers to help fight hunger on a local level. From October through mid December, at more than 500 supermarkets, shoppers will find Check-Out Hunger placards at every check-out aisle. Attached to the placards are $1, $2 and $5 donation slips on tear-off pads. To help people in need, the customer gives one or more donation slips to the cashier for scanning. The donation will be added to the purchase total. One hundred percent of all donations go to the Community FoodBank of New Jersey and its associated food banks.

Volunteers are the key to the Check-Out Hunger's success. Starting in late September, volunteers are needed in several key positions in their own communities: Team leaders oversee a local group of approximately 10 store volunteers, assisting in recruitment and materials distribution. Store volunteers set up, maintain and dismantle placard displays at check-out aisles in approximately two supermarkets. Awareness volunteers serve as public relations in their communities, working with local newspapers, places of worship and schools to foster awareness of Check-Out Hunger.

"Being a Check-Out Hunger volunteer is an ideal project for busy people who are short on time," said Julia Erlichman, director of development at the Community FoodBank. "They can work on their own schedule, close to home or work, and most important, is the knowledge that their effort truly makes a difference." In 1996, the campaign raised almost $500,000, distributed among six food banks statewide. With every dollar donated, the Community FoodBank of New Jersey distributes $10 to $12 worth of food.

The Community FoodBank of New Jersey, a private, nonprofit organization, is the state's largest provider of donated food to 1500 chari-

TWO NEW BRIDGES FOR PETTORANELLO GARDENS: To complete an Eagle Scout project, two members of Eagle Scout Troop No. 43 under Scoutmaster Robert Wells built two new bridges spanning two small brooks in Pettoranello Gardens that will facilitate the use of the bike path in the gardens. The second segment of the path, to be completed this fall, will complete a loop around and through the gardens, allowing joggers, strollers and wheelchairs easy access through woodsy paths, along the pond and by the stream. The bridges were designed by Albert Hawkins, a professional engineer and a volunteer with Princeton/Pettoranello Foundation. They were built by Mark Vishar of Meadowbrook Drive, and Arjun Reddy of Shadybrook, under the supervision of Mr. Wells. Total cost for materials was $3,000, one-tenth of what was originally estimated. Celebrating the completion of the bridges are, from left, in front, Eric Greenfeldt, Nick Ciccone, Dominick Pirone, Aldna Procaccini, Carolyn Lehr, Dominick Tamasi, Hugo Rossi, Nick Carnevale, the project leader, and Henry Carnevale. In back are Mr. Wells, Luciano Procaccini, Bob Kiser, Township engineer, Jack Roberts, director of the Recreation Department, Township Mayor Michelle Tuck-Ponder, Mr. Hawkins and Remo Nini, partially hidden.

Ice Cream Party Due At Area History Farm

Howell Living History Farm invites the public to an old-fashioned ice cream party on Saturday, July 5 from 10-4. Featured activities will include music, wagon rides, games and contests, and a children's craft program.

Ice cream making will begin at 11 a.m. when visitors are invited to help draw ice from the farm's ice house, which still holds three tons of ice from the winter of '97. Once cracked the ice will be used in hand- and engine-cranked ice cream freezers. The first batch of home-made ice cream will be ready for dipping at noon. Ice cream sodas, sundaes and cones will be served until 3:30.

A children's craft program, "Boat Making and Racing," will be offered continuously from 11-3. Races on the farm pond will be held at 1 and 3:30, with prizes awarded to the builders of the fastest boats. There is a $2 materials fee per boat.

Howell Farm is located on Valley Road, just off Route 29, two miles south of Lambertville. Parking and admission are free.

IS YOUR TREE TRYING TO TELL YOU SOMETHING?

Even though trees can't talk, they can tell you a lot. Spring and early summer are especially good times to "read your trees". Here are some tree characteristics you'll want to look for:

Color of the leaves

• Oil color leaves may be an indication of a nutrient deficiency in the soil. They may also be a sign that for some reason the tree's root system is incapable of extracting the necessary nutrients - even though the nutrients are present. For instance, iron chlorosis causes progressive yellowing of newly emerging leaves in oaks and other species. Nitrogen deficiency also causes yellowing, but affects the oldest leaves the most.

• Certain trees are susceptible to diseases that cause a distinctive change of leaf color.

• Premature fall coloration during the summer is generally an indication of a problem below ground that is creating stress conditions for the tree.

Misshapen leaves

• An upward curling of the leaf margin (a kind of a cupping effect) is the classic symptom of damage from herbicides. Has your lawn, or a neighbor's been sprayed for weeds recently?

• Distorted leaves may be evidence of sucking insect damage, or the presence of a disease organism.

Thinness of the canopy

• Typically, when the uppermost part of the tree's canopy begins to thin, the condition is characterized as decline. However, decline can have several causes, sometimes acting in combination that are treatable.

• Does your tree look like a telephone pole - that is straight - where it enters the ground, or does it have a natural root flair. The combination of thin crown and telephone pole appearance usually indicate that the tree's roots have been covered with fill. Have a professional evaluate the tree's chances and prescribe treatment.

• The combination of thin crown and flat trunk on one side are the symptoms of a root that is literally strangling the tree.

No leaves, or losing leaves

• If your favorite tree has failed to produce leaves this season, you have reason to be concerned, especially if you have other trees of the same species in your yard. Sometimes, quick action is required to keep a serious problem from spreading.

• If your tree loses all or most of its leaves during the growing season, again, sound the alerm! This may be a sign of a very serious disease or a leaf-eating insect. Either way, trees cannot survive for long if they are repeatedly defoliated.

If you are unsure about your tree's health, call us at WOODWINDS (924-3500). We'll identify and treat the causes of tree health problems.

Trent House Association Plans Open House

History buffs and other interested persons are invited to "Meet Mr. Trent" Friday, June 27, between 5:30 and 8:30 at the historic William Trent House, 15 Market Street, Trenton.

Mr. William Trent, the founder of Trenton, is hosting the party featuring wine and cheese, tours of his house and musical selections of the 18th century. Guests are invited to step back in time to 1719 and let William Trent tell them about the city he founded and called Trent's Town. Mr. Trent will be portrayed by historian Wayne Daniels who leads tours of the Old Barracks Museum and interprets 18th century historical characters at special events.

The colonial period musical group called Spiced Punch will perform. Stacy Roth, an experienced interpreter and co-director of History on the Hoof, a group that brings interactive history programs to the public, will coordinate the group's renditions. Ms. Roth has worked as museum educator and special events programmer for several sites in the area, including Pennsbury Manor and the Old Barracks.

Completed in 1719, The William Trent House was the summer home of Philadelphia merchant William Trent, who, in addition to founding Trent's town, was the first chief justice of New Jersey's Supreme Court. He occupied his house until his death on Christmas Day, 1724.

The house is furnished with a collection of fine 18th century furniture and household items which were selected based on an inventory taken in 1726. The house is owned by the City of Trenton, while the furniture and furnishings are owned and preserved by the Trent House Association. Trent House will be open for walk-through tours between 6 and 7.

Admission to the open house is $10 per person and reservations are suggested, but tickets may be purchased at the door. Contributions benefit the Trenton House Association and will be used to help preserve the historic collection of 18th century furniture and household items on display.

For further information or to reserve tickets call 989-3027.

Congressman Mike Pappas, Republican of the 12th district, will speak at the monthly breakfast meeting sponsored by the Republican Association of Princeton at the Nassau Club on July 1. The breakfast buffet, $12 and payable at the door, will start at 7:30. The program will begin at 8. The Congressman will take questions and will conclude at 8:30.

Reservations must be made by calling Tom Poole at 924-2271 by June 28.

Congressman Pappas has been an elected official for 14 years, serving as Freeholder, Mayor of Franklin Township, and Councilman in Somerset County. He was sworn into Congress on January 7 and is now an Assistant Republican Whip, a member of the Small Business Committee, the Government Reform and Oversight Committee, and the National Security Committee.

The Princeton Singles will sponsor a brunch at 11 a.m. Sunday, July 13, at The Seasons, Quaker Bridge Mall. Cost is $9.95

For reservations or information, call 883-9417. Reservations are required.

The Soroptimist International has installed its new board. Judith Wist was reinstated as president, Lorraine Rose as vice president, Joanne Gribbin was named secretary, and Judy Redding continued as treasurer.

The club's second scholarship award of the year was given to Nannan Liu, a graduate of Princeton High School, who will attend Carnegie Mellon University in the fall.

The group's goals for the coming year were outlined. It will continue to contribute to Crawford House and participate in the beautification of Redding Circle and other local projects.

Professional and business women interested in joining the Soroptimists should call 921-9236.

The Princeton chapter of the Institute of Management Consultants will hold a dinner meeting at 6 p.m. July 21 at The Forrestal at Princeton.

Dudley Smith, chief executive of ACMF, the leading international association of large consulting firms, will present "Helping Your Clients Through Best Practices: Improving the Effectiveness of Your Consulting."

For information, call the chapter hotline at (908) 972-0549.

The Jersey Purls will meet Wednesday, June 18, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the West Windsor branch of the Mercer County Library.

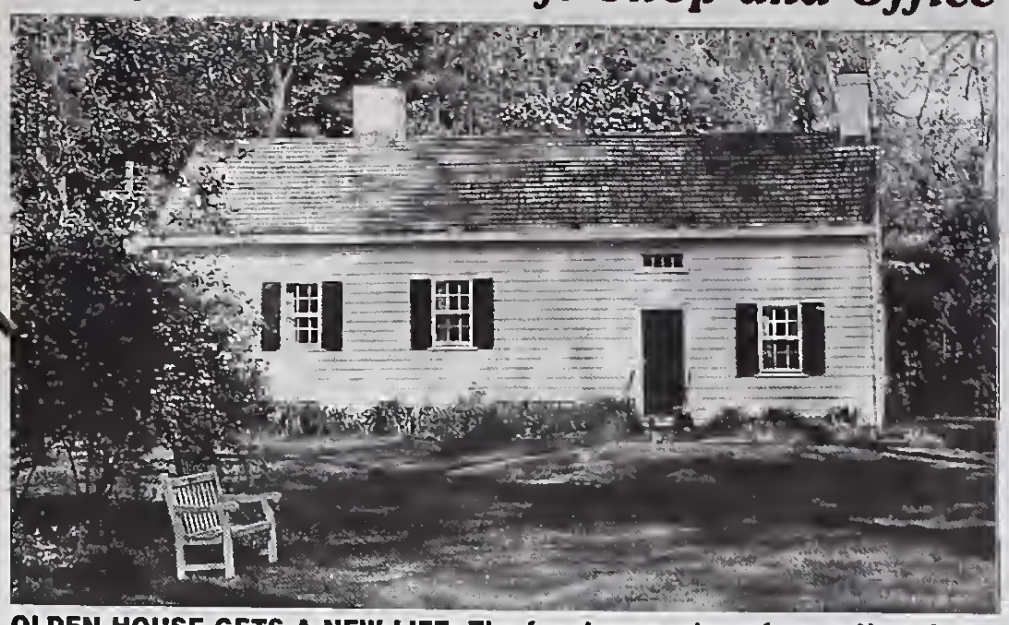
Olden House on Drumthwacket Estate Newly Restored as Gift Shop and Office



OLDEN HOUSE GETS A NEW LIFE: The farmhouse where former New Jersey Governor Charles Smith Olden was born in 1799 and where Moses Taylor Pyne later kept pet monkeys has been restored to serve as the Drumthwacket Foundation's office and Gift House.

The Olden House, a small house on the Drumthwacket estate which once housed Moses Taylor Pyne's pet monkeys, has been restored by the Drumthwacket Foundation as a gift shop and office for the foundation. A private reception on Wednesday, June 25, will mark its official opening.

Located on the front lawn of Drumthwacket, close to Stockton Street, the Olden House was built in 1759 by Thomas Olden. The Oldens were a Quaker family and were among the first settlers in what was later to become Princeton. William Olden, who came to Princeton in 1696, purchased the property from William Penn.

The house is one of the oldest buildings in the vicinity and until Thomas Olden's death in 1827 served as a modest dwelling for a succession of craftsmen and small farmers. Thomas Olden's grandson, Charles Smith Olden, who would late become governor of New Jersey in 1860, was born in the house in 1799. After making his fortune in New Orleans, Charles Smith returned to build Drumthwacket in 1833.

Moses Taylor Pyne purchased Drumthwacket in 1893. During the early years of Pyne ownership, the Olden house was temporarily occupied by his butler and his family. Subsequently it was transformed into a rare bird aviary. Monkeys were added still later.

During the heyday of the 300-acre estate, when it was maintained by 30 full-time gardeners, it was opened to the public on Sundays so that Princeton residents could come to enjoy the ponds, bridle paths and formal terraced gardens. The favorite place for children was the "Monkey House," as the Thomas Olden house became known.

Vacant Since the 1930s

Moses Taylor Pyne died in 1921. Since the 1930s, the Olden house has stood vacant. Eventually it fell into disrepair. Drumthwacket was purchased by the state in 1966 to be used as the governor's residence, but it did not become the governor's residence until 1981.

The Division of Parks and Forestry in the N.J. Department of Environmental Protection stabilized the Thomas Olden House in 1989, and the Drumthwacket Foundation restored it over a six-month period last year. The restoration was under the direction of architect Leon F. Parham and his associate Clifford Zink. The work was done by Kane Brothers, a firm specializing in historic restoration.

The Kane firm looked for clues that told them how the house was originally built and how it had been used. They discovered bite marks around the top of the window moldings in one room and decided that was the room in which Moses Taylor Pyne kept his pet monkeys. That room is now the new office of the Drumthwacket Foundation.

Paint samples of the interior were analyzed to reveal the original colors used in 1759. These colors are now used in the restored rooms. The colonial kitchen fireplace, constructed with hand-made bricks and a large wood-beam mantel, along with two small fireplaces, were painstakingly taken apart and reset. Cut-away sections have been created in several rooms to reveal the original infrastructure beneath the plaster and wood panel walls.

19th Century Addition

On the other end of the house from the Foundation office is the gift shop, accessible by a door which is offset from the center of the building. This section was a 19th-century addition and has a large open fireplace with a crane for pots and a cast iron Dutch 17th-century fireback which the Foundation recently acquired from Francis J. Purcell Inc., of New Hope, Pa. The shop also has an original corner cupboard and a double cabinet which have been restored and put to use.

Another original corner cupboard is in the volunteer room, where the floor is original to the house. Over the fireplace in this room is a painting of the Olden House by Betty Oft Dickson, a Drumthwacket docent.

A small room behind the volunteer room acts as kitchen and has a fireplace with a fireback, also found by Francis Purcell. A small bathroom and an upstairs room which can only be used for light storage complete the interior.

The raised beds in front of the house were planted with herbs by members of The Garden Club of Essex Fells. Benches on either side of the path leading to the house were given by this Garden Club and the New Jersey Chapter, American College of Nurse Midwives. Sterling silver spoons and forks, along with a silver card tray that belonged to Governor Charles Olden, have been given to the Foundation by Jean Bruyere Kell, a descendant of the governor.

The Gift Shop carries the history of Drumthwacket by Willian Selden as well as tote bags, notecubes, mugs, Swiss army knives, playing cards and dish towels, all with the Drumthwacket logo. It also carries children's books and games. According to Daphne Pontius, executive director of the Drumthwacket Foundation, one of the best sellers in the Gift Shop are the toy monkeys.

The Gift Shop also carries a selection of pottery and silk scarves, both made by area artists, along with New Jersey honey and New Jersey chocolate. The hours are Wednesdays from 12 to 2.

Taking a Crossroad in His Life's Journey, Retiring Cardiologist Will Study Theology

After 37 years of practicing internal medicine and cardiology in Princeton, William F. Haynes Jr., M.D. is retiring at the end of June. He is 71 and was feted at a party at Cap and Gown Club on the Princeton University campus by his partners at Cardiology Associates of Princeton.

Dr. Haynes, who in recent years has made a practice of praying with his patients when they seem open to the idea, has been accepted at La Salle University's Graduate School of Theology in Philadelphia where he will study for a master's degree. He selected La Salle because the program is geared for people in the work force and one can attend Saturday morning or one or two nights a week.

"I'm doing it for my own journey," Dr. Haynes said in an interview at his office last week. "I have no desire to become ordained or a member of the clergy." His grandfather, great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather were all ministers in New England, but he does not think that is what is propelling him to study theology.

His other grandfather, his mother's father, was a physician, an ear, nose and throat specialist. His father was a Wall Street broker who died in 1938 of what Dr. Haynes describes as "smoldering hepatitis" dating back to World War I. Dr. Haynes was 13 at the time, and an only child. He and his mother, a school teacher, moved into her father's house where he remained through high school.

He attributes his interest in the body and how it works to being a "skinny little kid" who, with a few other skinny little kids, formed a weight-lifting club. They met in the second floor of a neighbor's barn where they plastered the walls with pictures of big strong guys, huge strong weight lifters, and "tried to emulate them with our skinny arms," as he put it.

"That's how I got interested in all the muscle groups, the deltoids, the back, legs, stomach," Dr. Haynes continued. "I became very interested in how the body was working." He also did a lot of swimming, starting at age 5, and competing all the way through elementary school, high school and college. He continues to compete at the masters level and is proud of having been rated among The Top Ten in the backstroke by U.S. Masters Swimming for the last several years.

Dr. Haynes believes that competitive sports, especially those that are governed by a stop watch, such as track and swimming, are an important deterrent to smoking.

William F. Haynes Jr.

Military Service

Dr. Haynes graduated from Newark Academy in 1944 and from the United States Merchant Marine Academy, where he earned a bachelor's degree in science in March, 1946. Commissioned an ensign in the U.S. Navy Reserve, he served in the Pacific Theater from June, 1944 to February, 1945. He also served in the Atlantic Theater before being discharged. The next step was Princeton, where he earned the A.B. degree in 1950, followed by medical school at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons.

After receiving his M.D. in 1954, he did a one-year internship at St. Luke's Hospital in New York City before being called back into the Navy to serve as a ship's medical officer on duty in the Atlantic caring for Hungarian Revolution refugees and others escaping the Iron Curtain. He also served in the Caribbean caring for U.S. military and their dependents.

Returning to St. Luke's, where he completed his medical residencies, he was a New York Heart Fellow in 1959-60.

Dr. Haynes came to Princeton in July of 1960 to begin private practice. For the first 18 years he practiced on his own. Then he entered into an association with the late John R. (Ray) Burbidge M.D. and the late W. Pepper Constable M.D. In 1980 he and John Hagaman M.D. became partners. Brandt McCabe M.D. joined eight years ago, and Andrew Shanahan M.D. last summer.

Over the years Dr. Haynes built up a very large practice (he prefers that the actual number of patients is not mentioned), but he speaks of receiving "well over" 200 phone calls a day at his office.

The office nurses can handle some of the calls, but "each one has to be addressed," as he puts it. Each office visit involves making a diagnosis, reaching a decision, deciding on treatment. "It's very demanding," he remarks. "It is time to slow down. Do a few things you want to do. Read a book that is not a medical book."

He plans to make the rest of the summer a vacation, but in the fall, in addition to attending classes at La Salle, he expects to continue teaching part time at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, attend a medical lecture now and then and do some writing.

Start of the Journey

The journey that Dr. Haynes speaks of as being the impetus for attending theological school began in 1980. As he has written in his book A Physician's Witness to the Power of Shared Prayer, he was totally unprepared when his then wife, the former Constance S. Simpson, suggested divorce. They had been married for 20 years and were well along in raising their three children. In 1984, he married his present wife, Aline.

Dr. Haynes

"A lot of us have to be broken to be open," Dr. Haynes said in the interview. "When you are driving you own car and everything's under control, you are doing it yourself. You are a self-made person, self-sufficient, self-this and self-that.

"One day you may find yourself in the trench with the bullets, the first time you've lost control of your life, and you might say, 'God help me. I have no control here. Bullets are flying by.' This is analogous to my personal situation."

There followed what he describes as a black period when it was "important to go out in the desert. Four years later, I realized for the first time I couldn't do everything myself. I needed spiritual help."

During that period, Dr. Haynes read some 300 books on the Holy Spirit, healing and inner healing while at the same time studying for his cardiology boards. He met Sister Miriam Murphy, who became his spiritual adviser, at Princeton Theological Seminary. He went on numerous retreats, attended churches of different denominations, and took part in prayer groups.

"I began to realize that in order to heal others, you have to heal yourself," Dr. Haynes said. "I began to see the power of prayer in my own life, and once I experienced it I could reach out to others. That was the beginning of my journey, around 1980. It has been gathering momentum ever since. Now not a day goes by when there isn't somebody in the office with whom I pray.

"We pray together. They pray for me, and I pray for them. We are partners, equals. We are both vulnerable. We are both spiritual partners. I am a professional, a physician, with them, but I am also a spiritual partner. It's a great joy for me when these happenings occur."

Dr. Haynes spoke of the importance of "discernment," of discerning whether or not the patient is open to audible prayer in the office. "I think you don't want to snowball people," he said. "And if you discern that they are not open, you can always do inaudible prayer. And you have to also remember that you are a channel.

"It's not the doctor that is the healer. It is the Holy Spirit that goes right through you, through the stethoscope — especially the inaudibles — and right to their heart. So you can be praying inaudibly if you discern they are not open to it. Many times I've done that."

Daily Quiet Time

Dr. Haynes spends 20 minutes of quiet time before he goes to work in the morning in prayer and meditation, using Doily Mass, put out by the Catholic Church in Quebec, The Word, a commentary put out by a Catholic group in Gaithersburg, Md., and Daily Word, a monthly publication of the Unity School of Christianity that he began reading with his mother after his father died and has continued to read daily ever since.

He also keeps a journal, an engagement book with a page for each day in which he records his cares and concerns, his victories, his prayer list for certain people who are sick, and things that strike him from newspapers or something he has read or heard.

In addition to A Physicion's Witness to the Power of Shared Proyer, Dr. Haynes is the author of Minding the Whole Person: Cultivoting a Healthy Lifestyle from Youth through the Senior Years. Both were published by Loyola University Press. He has given many talks about inner healing and physical healing.

"I love doing them," he said of the talks, "because it is a way of being somewhat of a channel through the eyes of physicians to lay people on the power of prayer from a physician's point of view."

One of the things he would like to do in retirement is to give one or more talks to medical students, not on religion, but on human spirituality and the role it plays in treating patients. He would also like to talk to seminary students before they go on hospital floors for their field work, to give them hints on how to approach patients.

"I would talk about some of the things I've learned, like, don't stand at the foot of the bed, sit down next to the patient. Otherwise it looks like you are ready to run out of there as quickly as possible. Don't be afraid to touch them. Don't be afraid to ask how they are doing. Listen to them. Don't worry just about the post-op gall bladder recovery, but what else is on their mind. So many times there are other issues."

Healthcare Today

Asked to comment on the state of medicine today, Dr. Haynes said, "The big problem is the whole problem of health care management and delivery, rules run by lay people, which means in many cases a denial. Lay people managing how you treat people.

"I think there are just too many forms," he continued. "There are 18 HMOs in Princeton. Each one has its own forms, its own codes, fee structure, rules, regulations. You need 18 bookkeepers to keep track. So we only joined a couple. They are all merging and they are interposing themselves, in my view, between the patient and the practice of medicine. And that's too bad, although I fully recognize the need for prudent cuts in medical spending."

He said he expects that HMOs will be "vastly" different in the next couple of years, because of changes in legislation that is already happening in some states. "They will be held responsible for demanding certain changes that were the wrong choice perhaps ... I think they are not going to be as cocky and autocratic as they were. They're going to have to be a little more flexible."

Dr. Haynes said if he were to do his life all over, he would still choose medicine as his career. "I was very happy in medicine," he said.

In addition, the last six months, since he notified people he was retiring, have been "a wonderful experience of affirmation," as he put it. "A few tears, hugs, whatever. That's worth an awful lot. I am very grateful for that."

Millstone Bypass

Windsor residents attended the hearing to urge that the Millstone Bypass be built.

In order for a regional road improvement project to be included in the Transportation Improvement Plan (TIP), a regional planning commission must give its approval. Inclusion is the first step toward actual construction. The Millstone Bypass is considered a regional road improvement, and the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission is the reviewing agency.

The DVRPC was seeking input on four roadway projects. In addition to the $45 million Millstone Bypass, the other projects include a 34-mile long light rail line connecting Camden to Trenton through Burlington; a road widening from Exit 3 to Exit 4 on the New Jersey Turnpike in southern New Jersey, and improving the intersection of I-295 and Route 42 in Camden County. The DVRPC's three-member panel held hearings in Collingswood and Philadelphia in addition to Trenton.

Vote Expected July 24

The 30-day public review process continues until June 30. The panel is expected to vote on the TIP on July 24. The TIP is reviewed every two years. If the Millstone Bypass is not included in the current plan there will be another opportunity for proponents to push for its inclusion in 1999.

Princeton officials who attended the hearing were Borough Mayor Marvin Reed, Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser, Planning Director Lee Solow, Township Committeeman Steve Frakt and Arch Davis, chair of the Borough's Traffic and Transportation Committee. Mayor Reed told the panel that the designs presented to date "are totally inadequate. They fail to relate this project to other transportation projects and needs in the region."

He also said that construction of the Millstone Bypass should be delayed until there is a clear commitment, "a shovel in the ground," from the New Jersey Turnpike Authority to build Route 92 from Exit 8-A to "at least" Route 27 near Kingston.

Mr. Frakt told the panel that the Millstone Bypass "is not ready for prime time" and urged that more time and thought go into it to make sure that the public has a chance to participate.

Impact on Elms

Those attending from STOP were Jean Mahoney, Richard Barrett, Alan Goodheart, Candace Preston and Patrick Lyons. Mr. Barrett testified against the Bypass because of its impact on the Washington Road elms. Mr. Lyons spoke about the impacts of the roadway on the D&R Canal, the D&R Canal State Park and Lake Carnegie. Mrs. Mahoney outlined a number of deficiencies in the roadway, including the lack of bike or pedestrian access and the lack of public input.

West Windsor residents, who traveled all the way to Philadelphia to give the DVRPC panel their views on the Millstone Bypass, included West Windsor Council members Rae Roeder and Alison Miller, who spoke to the need for the Bypass to relieve traffic impacts on residences along Washington Road/ Route 571.

West Windsor's planner, John Madden, told the panel, "Don't delay. Build the bypass."

University of Virginia as being the "simplest in spatial disposition, massing and conception; known types of construction. It took a familiar type of building and made something special of it."

Alan Mallach, who directs the City of Trenton Housing and Urban Development Department, called the KSS scheme "an excellent solution that balances both green space and buildings; it provides a simple solution, with elegant massing." Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser said the simple design should be cost effective to construct and economical to maintain, heat and cool. The jurors liked the open space along Witherspoon Street and made some suggestions how that might be improved, to make it not just an open space but a public one, whether grass or hard surface.

Two Simple Rectangles

In essence, the KSS concept is two simple rectangular structures placed perpendicular to each other, one facing Valley Road, the other facing Witherspoon Street. The buildings look as if they are separated but they are actually joined at a lower level, providing access from one to the other. They have simple pitched roofs and would be clad in brick with limestone accents, similar to the former Valley Road school building and the new firehouse, which was built to harmonize with the school building.

However simple in appearance, the scheme includes a couple of distinctive architectural features. The most obvious is the two-story windowed apse tacked onto the eastern end of the building fronting Valley Road. The lower floor of the apse would contain the police chief's office, the upper floor would be the mayor's office. According to Mr. Kehrt, because of the curve in Witherspoon Street and its descent toward Valley Road, this apse would be visible from a distance as one drives north on Witherspoon Street.

> "an excellent solution that balances both green space and buildings; it provides a simple solution, with elegant massing."

One of the design goals was "to establish the site as the termination of Witherspoon Street, one of the town's major thoroughfares," Mr. Kehrt wrote in the firm's press release summarizing the building. The apse also looks toward the existing municipal building, which Mr. Kehrt hopes will one day be renovated and "will continue for years and years," as he put it at the press conference.

The building parallel to Witherspoon Street would contain the court room/Township Committee meeting room as well as a 1,500-square-foot public meeting room with a small kitchen and space for storage. Separated from the rest of the municipal complex, these facilities could be used at hours when the municipal offices are closed and locked for the night.

The scheme takes advantage of the drop in ground level toward Witherspoon Street and toward Valley Road. Thus the building parallel to Witherspoon is one story in front and two in back, while the building along Valley Road is two stories in front and three in back. The lower level in both buildings would house the police. Township municipal offices would be housed on the second and third floors of this building.

There will be a ground level entrance to the court room from Witherspoon Street directly opposite the entrance to the former Valley Road School, further reinforcing the connection between municipal buildings on the east and west sides of Witherspoon Street. Below the court room would be the area where police bring in suspects for arraignment and processing.

Another distinctive architectural feature of the KSS scheme is the arcade that will lead pedestrians from the parking lot to the court room entrance and also to the entrance to the administration offices at the end of the arcade. Between the arcade and Witherspoon Street is an open area, which was the subject of the jurors' suggestions for further enhancement as a public space.

THE WINNING DESIGN: At the far left is the edge of a long rectangular parking lot to accommodate all municipal and police parking needs. Note the police radio tower by a driveway leading from Route 206 into the lower part of the near building where suspects would be arraigned and processed. An arcade, center, leads pedestrians from the parking lot to the court room entrance in the middle of the building facing Witherspoon Street or to the municipal offices entrance at the end of the arcade. Witherspoon Street is at the right, curving toward Valley Road. At the far right is the edge of the Valley Road school building and its parking lot. Note the apse on the building parallel to Valley Road.

Mr. Kehrt said the first task the KSS team faced was to solve the parking, "organize it and get it out of the way," as he put it. Municipal and police parking is provided in a new rectangular lot that runs diagonally across the site. Mr. Kehrt commented that the most efficient way to handle parking is to line cars up in a long line.

In all, the KSS building would have approximately 45,000 square feet. Corner House would be included, but not the Recreation Department which is said to be planning to build an addition on top of the pool complex building for its offices.

In addition to Mr. Kehrt, the KSS design team included Richard Harlan Pratt, Katherine Bambrick Ambroziak, Brian Ambroziak and Scot Murdoch. Kehrt Shatken Sharon has designed several award-winning municipal facilities in New Jersey, the most recent being the Pennington Borough Hall and library. Other completed projects include the Franklin Township Municipal Building and the Milltown Municipal Building.

"A Bold Design"

The word most often used by the jurors to describe the second place entry by Terry Smith, Juliette Richardson, Jeff Etelmaki, Mehmet Dogu, Roy Leone, Carlo Balestri and Lindsay Suter of Richardson Smith Associates was "bold." The competitors were limited to submitting no more than eight 24" by 36" boards. The submission by Richardson Smith Associates was by far the most elaborate, with ground elevations shown in layered wood topped by a wooden model of a modernistic building with two arms that "wrapped the edges of the site," as Mr. Smith put it, leaving a large open courtyard space in between.

The Richardson Smith scheme places the court room/council chamber in a curved projection at the corner by Valley Road and Witherspoon Street. Mr. Waldman called the Richardson Smith entry "a brave, bold, provocative, instructive scheme. It's also very familiar." Mr. Waldman pointed out that this scheme "clarifies the difference between a relatively new town with interactive space and the historical one of Princeton, which has a traditional borough hall."

Architect Don Prowler of Philadelphia called it "an elegant and provocative scheme, probably the building I would be most eager to visit among all the entries ... the one that most elegantly resolves the radical juxtaposition between Route 206 and Witherspoon Street."

Township Mayor Tuck-Ponder called it a "building with a

FAMILYBORN
The birth of a better idea

Four Years Ago: A Different Story

The last time Princeton Township set about looking for an architect was in the summer of 1993. At the time, the decision as to whether to renovate the existing Valley Road school building or to build a new facility was not a firm one. The Short and Ford architectural firm had done a study which said it would be more cost effective to build a new building than to renovate the old, but there was sentiment in the community that renovating would be less costly. There was also opposition to spending more of taxpayer money than absolutely necessary.

Committee, which consisted of Laurence Glasberg, mayor, Ellen Souter, Fred Porter, Phyllis Marchand and Sharon Bilanin, established an architectural selection committee to pick an architect to do a "feasibility" study of renovation vs. new building. The subcommittee consisted of Mr. Glasberg and Mrs. Marchand along with the Township administrator, police chief and engineer, with input from two architects who were not going to bid on the project, Jon Hlafter of Princeton University and Robert Sussna, who had also conducted a study of the Valley Road building.

After interviewing a number of architectural firms, the subcommittee selected two, Kehrt Shatken Sharon of Princeton and Faridy Thorne Fraytak of Trenton. The two were were asked to give a presentation before the entire Township Committee. Since each was understandably reluctant to discuss what they would charge in front of the other, both were also asked to submit a bid in writing. They faced a fairly hostile audience that seemed more interested in what the Township had spent thus far and what future costs would be than in the design qualifications of either firm.

In late September, after a heated discussion, Committee voted 3 to 2 to ask KSS to do a feasibility study to help it decide how to proceed with improving the police building and municipal offices. The selection was contingent upon negotiation of an acceptable contract.

Mr. Glasberg, who had been on the architect selection committee that unanimously recommended KSS as the firm that "stood out above all others," was among the majority voting for the KSS firm. Mrs. Souter and Mr. Porter preferred the Faridy firm because of the lower fee that firm had quoted. The Faridy firm said it would develop schematic designs and cost estimates for a fee of $59,000 and quoted an overall fee as 6 percent of the total cost of construction, without specifying new construction or renovation. Rafael Sharon wrote Committee a four-page letter outlining the scope of services for which it would charge a fixed fee of $97,350. Mr. Sharon wrote that if the project continued beyond the schematic design phase the firm would negotiate a fee for full architectural design and construction services. He added that the firm's usual fees were based on 8 percent of the construction cost for new construction and 12 percent for renovation.

A week later, feeling the pressure of the residents, Mr. Glasberg reversed his stand and voted "no" in awarding a contract to KSS, despite the fact that the firm volunteered to reduce the fees to 7.75 percent for new construction and 9.75 percent for rehabilitation. Mrs. Souter voted "no" and Mr. Porter abstained, which was tantamount to another "no" vote.

The contract went to Faridy Thorne Fraytak.

It is interesting to note that none of the residents who were so vocal in their opposition to building a new facility have come to any of the meetings in which the charrette for new design ideas has been discussed.

Township Hall

very strong voice," but expressed concern about the cost of heating and cooling and "the long-term timeliness of the design."

The third place design, by Myers Associates (George Myers, Maggie Greco and Josiah Wiener) included a number of other activities and amenities to create a town center at the site. These included an arcade of markets along Witherspoon Street, a skating rink, a fountain, and an amphitheater in the foundations of the old township hall/police building.

The jurors noted that these elements would draw people to the site. Mr. Mallach said, I like the idea that it consciously focuses on making the municipal building a center for a variety of activities, rather than just a place for people who do business with government." Mr. Prowler said, "This is the sort of scheme that justifies having a competition in that it is a very serious and helpful contribution to thinking about the nature of the site."

Mayor Tuck-Ponder said the charrette had been "an exciting and different exercise" and expressed amazement at what the architects had been able to accomplish in just 72 hours. Mr. Kehrt said that 270 man-hours had gone into the KSS scheme between Thursday and Sunday.

Mr. Hewitt of Princeton Design Guild called it "a tremendous effort" on the part of the architects. "We knew it would be a very very tough competition for them," he said, adding that some 188 boards had been submitted and that there were equally interesting ideas among the submissions that were not selected as winners.

He noted that there is "wonderful talent and strength" among local New Jersey architects and in the greater Princeton area. All four winners are from the local architectural community. That says a lot," Mr. Hewitt said.

MUSIC REVIEW

Spirited Performance of Rossini's "Cinderella" Opens 1997 Season of Opera Festival of N.J.

The Opera Festival of New Jersey opened its 1997 season at The Lawrenceville School on Saturday night with a light-hearted and spirited performance of Rossini's Lo Cenerentolo (Cinderello). Sung in English and conducted by Louis Salemno, this performance reintroduced Opera Festival audiences to well-appreciated voices from past seasons and also brought new talent to the Lawrenceville stage.

La Cenerentolo follows the fairy tale storyline closely, with the substitution of a stepfather for a wicked stepmother and a lost bracelet for a golden slipper. Rossini's music for this opera is full of quick coloratura singing, requiring tremendous breath support and agility from the performers. All of the members of Saturday night's cast were up to the task of keeping up with Rossini's vocal requirements, but several performers especially excelled.

In the title role of Angelina (Cinderella), Margaret Lattimore displayed a voice which demonstrated agility and clarity both at the highest and lowest points of the vocal register (at times in the same breath). Ms. Lattimore's voice is a rich mezzo, with sparkle and shimmer in the top register and clarity in the lower register. Her interpretation of the music was appropriately mournful as her stepsisters harassed her mercilessly, and brilliantly fanciful as she anticipated attending the Prince's ball.

It seems that each Opera Festival production introduces a new rising star to Lawrenceville audiences, and this year it is bass Eric Owens, who sang the role of Alidoro, the court philosopher. Mr. Owens' commanding and rich bass voice confirmed his character's wise counsel to the Prince, and gave notice to the Opera Festival audiences of another major operatic career in the making.

The role of Prince Ramiro was sung by Curt Peterson, who brought elegance and style to his character. The vocal lines of Prince Ramiro were full of stratospheric cadences and florid singing, and the audience well appreciated Mr. Peterson's command of the role. The part of Prince Ramiro's valet, Dandini, was sung by Franco Pomponi, who performed as a perfect comic foil to Prince Ramiro.

CINDERELLA AND HER PRINCE: Margaret Lattimore and Curt Peterson (disguised as a valet) sing the lead roles in "La Cenerentola."

La Cenerentola* will be performed on June 27 and 29, and on July 5 and 13. Faust will open on June 28, and Vanessa on July 12. For ticket information call 683-8000.

The wicked stepsisters, of course, are a significant key to the comedy of this opera. Laura Knoop and Natalie Arduino spent much of the opera musically sniping at each other (as well as at Cinderella), and were a good vocal match for each other. The role of Don Magnifico, the father of these two scheming wenches, was well played by John Stephens.

Stephan Olson's sets for the house scenes were steeped in renditions of brass, reflecting a golden hue throughout the sets in Acts I and III. The castle scenes were recreated in a fanciful bright green setting, adding to the fairy tale effect. All the sets were centered around an enormous clock which rose above the stage to announce each act. The importance of time in this fairy tale had not been overlooked by the set designers.

Comic Direction

Most noticeable about this production (besides the superlative singing) was the masterful and comedic stage direction by Francis Cullinan. With Rossini's typically patter-like and rapid-fire singing and texts, there is much opportunity for well-timed comedic gestures and actions to match the words, and Mr. Cullinan exploited every chance to add to the absurdity of the situation. The interaction between the stepsisters was especially effective and well-timed.

Costume designer Baker Smith chose to outfit the performers in early 19th-century garb, with two exceptions. The futility of the stepsisters' efforts to win the Prince's affections was exemplified by their horrifying taste in clothes. Their outfits for the grand ball were especially humorous, looking much like Little Bo Peep having a bad fashion day.

Conductor Louis Salemno had his hands full, from the very long opening overture through the quintets and sextets of high-speed music and text. These ensemble numbers were especially well-performed, and all singers stayed right with the conductor throughout the opera. The musicians of Concerto Soloists provided solid orchestral accompaniment, and a small chorus of men was prepared by Richard Tang Yuk. It was especially impressive throughout the performance that the words could almost always be understood.

La Cenerentolo is very much a comedy, and well suited to the hall at the Kirby Arts Center. The audience could hear and see everything, and very few humorous moments were lost. The season will continue with the more prosaic Faust and the very contemporary Vonessa later in the summer. However, the Festival audience has many more opportunities throughout the next month to escape into the fairy tale of Cinderella through the light-hearted and clever music of Rossini. —Nancy Plum

Freedom Brass will present an American tribute Thursday, July 3. The program will include works by John Philip Sousa, Stephen Foster, George Cohan, Leonard Bernstein, Gilbert and Sullivan and Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Rutgers SummerFest Features Concerts By Many Performers

Rutgers SummerFest 1997 celebrates the arts with a month-long festival in July of 20 concerts, featuring music from virtually every tradition and style, plus a photography exhibit and a theater presentation for young audiences.

The festival opens Thursday, July 3, with Peter Schickele, host of public radio's "Schickele Mix" and inveterate discoverer of P.D.Q. Bach's music, in a concert of his own music. The concert takes place at 8 in Nicholas Music Center on the Douglass College campus in New Brunswick. The program will be announced from the stage. Tickets are $24, with discounts available for groups and student rush.

Chestnut Brass Company will perform Friday, July 4, at 8 in Nicholas Music Center. Focusing on the American Civil War, the program features popular music of that time performed on authentic antique instruments and highlighted with readings from letters and diaries of soldiers. It will conclude with popular works by American composers.

The ensemble includes Bruce Barrie, trumpet; Christopher Moore, trumpet, Marlan Hesse, horn, Brett Shuster, trombone; and Jay Krush, tuba. Tickets for this concert are also $24.

The Rutgers Festival Orchestra, Richard Auldon Clark, conductor, will give the first of four Saturday concerts in July on Saturday, July 5, in Nicholas Music Center. The program includes An American in Paris by George Gershwin, Five of a Kind, by Peter Schickele, with the Chestnut Brass company, the overture to Candide by Leonard Bernstein; and Victor Herbert's Irish Rhapsody.

The Chestnut Brass

The Klezmer band Brave Old World will perform Sunday, July 6, at 2 in Nicholas Music Center. The ensemble includes Michael Alpert, vocals and violin; Alan Bern, accordion, Kurt Bjorling, clarinet; and Paul Morrissett, bass and tsimbl. Tickets are $24.

The photography exhibit featuring recent multiple panel Polaroid portraits by Dawoud Bey will open Thursday, July 3, with a reception from 4 to 7 in the Mason Gross School of the Arts Gallery, 33 Livingston Avenue in New Brunswick. The exhibit runs through July 25. Hours are Monday to Friday, 10 to 4, and admission is free.

Mr. Bey uses a Polaroid 20x24 camera owned by the Polaroid Corporation to record American youth culture and urban style. He uses multiple photographs to construct large scale works that show the subject from more than one vantage point. The final pieces consist of as many as eight individual photographs and can measure up to six feet tall and seven feet wide.

Upcoming Events

An evening of chamber music based on works by Kurt Vonnegut, Mark Twain and The Sword in the Stone will be performed Wednesday, July 9, at 8. Classical music artists who are scheduled during SummerFest include pianist Anne-Marie McDermott on Thursday, July 10; The New Zealand String Quartet on Friday, July 11; pianist Alicia de Larrocha, Friday, July 17; the period-instrument ensemble Hesperus on Wednesday, July 23; and the Korean-born sister act, Ahn Trio on Thursday, July 24.

Admission for the Alicia de Larrocha concert is $28; all others are $24.

The resident SummerFest Chamber Players will perform favorite and new or rarely-heard chamber works on three Tuesdays, July 8, 15 and 22, at 8. Admission is $18. The Rutgers Festival Orchestra's concert on Saturday, July 12, includes music of Jean Sibelius, Henry Cowell, Marcel Grandjany and Josef Suk. The Orchestra can also be heard on July 19 and July 26. The final program will feature Brahms Symphony No. 1 and Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 4 with Awadagin Pratt as soloist.

World music is also represented during the month-long festival. Chinese classical music will be performed on traditional instruments on Sunday, July 13, at 2. The foremost disciple of Ravi Shankar, Kartik Seshadri, sitar, is scheduled for Wednesday, July 16, and the Quintet of the Americas will perform chamber music from North and South America on Thursday, July 17.

Peter Schickele

In other events, the Shoestring Players will present The Arrow to the Sun, based on four folk tales, Sunday, July 20, at 11 and again at 2, in the New Theater on the Douglass College campus. Admission is $14 for adults and $7 for children under 12.

A Rutgers Summer Pass provides admission to all 20 concerts for $139, representing a 70% discount off single ticket prices. Smaller discounted packages are also available by calling (908) 932-7511.

"Once Upon a Mattress" At Bucks Playhouse

The musical comedy, Once Upon a Mattress, which is currently playing on Broadway, will be staged at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pa., starting Wednesday, June 25, and continuing through Sunday, July 6.

Based on the children's story The Princess and the Pea, Once Upon a Mattress is a fractured fairy tale version of the popular story. The plot centers on Princess Winnifred, who arrives dripping wet in the throne room of an ancient kingdom. She is a contender for the hand of Prince Dauntless the Drab whose overbearing mother has decided that the prince will wed only a true princess of royal blood. Winnifred passes the test with a little help from a friendly minstrel.

Performances are Wednesday through Friday at 8; Saturday at 5 and 9; and Sunday at 7. Matinees are Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday at 2.

Ticket prices are $17 for all performances except for Saturday at 5, which is $19, and Saturday at 9, which is $20.

For information and reservations call (215) 862-2041.

What should every woman know about money?

Today, women tend to live longer than men, divorce is common and the average age of widowhood is 56. The majority of American women will eventually need to make their own financial decisions.

Women are more likely than men to:

- Not have a pension plan;
- Take work leave for family obligations, thus reducing their Social Security and pension benefits;
- Require long-term health care;
- Need an estate plan, but are less likely to have one.*

These are serious issues—but preparing for your future and achieving financial security need not be difficult. Begin by joining us at a free seminar designed to answer your questions about investing and financial planning. For more information, or to reserve a seat, call the number below.

Post 218 Falls to 3-9 As Season Nears Middle

The Princeton Post 218 American Legion baseball team dropped four out of five games this week, as its record fell to 3-9. In three out of four cases, Post 218 lost by a single run.

On Monday, a 10-2 Hamilton squad slipped past Princeton 7-6. Hamilton got three runs in the third to overcome an early 3-0 Princeton lead. Post 218 tied the score at 5-5 in the bottom of the fourth, but the visiting squad made it 7-5 with single runs in the fifth and seventh innings. A single Post 218 run in the bottom of the seventh wasn't quite enough to catch Hamilton.

R.J. Choppy got the start for Post 218 and went the distance, allowing eight hits and four walks, while striking out three. At the plate, Pete Vanzino and Bennett Fisher both went 3-for-4 with two RBIs. Fisher also scored twice. Shortstop Charlie King was 2-for-4 with a double and a run scored.

West Windsor stomped Princeton 12-2 on Saturday. Princeton starter Arthur Gross was knocked out after 1⅓, having allowed five runs on four hits. Reliever David Daniels allowed seven runs on six hits over 4⅓. The game was ended by the 10-run rule with two out in the bottom of the sixth.

Rich Wright and Chris Butts scored the only runs for Princeton, which was able to collect only four hits against West Windsor pitching.

Butts was 3-for-4 with a home run, a double, and three RBIs to lead Post 218 to a 17-10 victory over Mitchell Davis Post 182 on Friday. Post 218 broke a 6-6 deadlock with five runs in the fourth inning and six in the fifth.

Starting pitcher Kyle Gadekar went four innings and allowed nine runs on eight hits. Gadekar was 2-for-4 at the plate, with three RBIs. Justin Miller pitched one inning of relief and himself went 2-for-5 with a double, and two runs scored. Fisher and Jeff Mapps each scored three times and had two RBIs.

The Trenton Post 93 Schroths overcame a 5-1 Princeton lead a week ago Wednesday, rallying for five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to top Princeton 6-5.

Choppy started for Princeton, allowing five runs on three hits over 4⅓ innings. Wright was 3-for-4 at the plate, with a double, a home run, a run scored, and two RBIs.

Vanzino was 2-for-4 with a double and a run scored. Michael Aprigliano was 2-for-2 with two runs scored.

Princeton lost a one-run advantage in the bottom of the final inning against North Trenton last week, then went on to lose the game in the bottom of the eighth inning, on a bases loaded single.

King started for Princeton, and went 6⅓, allowing three runs on seven hits. Gadekar came in with one out in the eighth, and allowed one run on three hits and a walk.

At the plate, nine different

As a stunt, Lloyd Whitman and Bert Weisfeld played 18 holes in New York City at daybreak, then hopped a plane and played 18 holes near Chicago in midday, and then flew to California to play 18 holes there before nightfall, Pacific time ... They got in 54 holes coast-to-coast on the same day.

Ever wonder why there are indentations, or dimples, on a golf ball? ... The reason is that a golf ball, being so small, would be more easily driven off course by wind if it weren't for the indentations ... The indentations tend to keep the ball straighter in flight.

Post 218 players got single hits, with none having more. King had the only extra-base hit, knocking a double.

Princeton plays Hamilton Post 313 on Thursday, away, then hosts Bordentown on Friday at 5:45 p.m. On Monday, Princeton plays Lawrence Post 414.

Car Wash Scheduled

Princeton Post 218 will hold a car wash on Saturday to raise funds for the team.

From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Harrison Street Fire House, motorists can have a car washed for $5.

Phillies Fall to Orioles In Babe Ruth Playoffs

The Montgomery Orioles got revenge last week, defeating the Princeton Phillies 9-3 in an interleague Babe Ruth Championship. The Phillies were the only team to beat the Orioles during the regular season.

The game began ominously for the Phillies, when Mike Mikolasy opened the game with a home run to left field. The Phillies tied the game in the second on a base hit by Steve Sabo, but things unraveled in the third as the Orioles scored six runs on four hits.

Kevin Graydon and Mark Henry shared pitching duties for the Phillies. Tyson Graygor and Brigham Tallmadge both collected two hits in the Phillies' losing effort.

No Surprises on Court In Rec League Openers

There was nothing unusual about the opening night of play in the Princeton Recreation Department men's basketball league, as three of the League's top teams took wins from three squads who last year were consistently in the middle or bottom of the standings.

In the opening game, Café Piazza rode identical 12-point efforts by Troy Hottenstein and James Warney to a 55-33 victory over Doctor VonDerSchmidt. Wanza Carter put down 11 points for Dr. V.

Defending champion Tiger's Tale put a 76-39 hurt on Princeton Youth Sports, with 17 points from Blitz Wooten, 14 each from Darius Young and Dave Johnson, and 13 from Pat Davis. Ott Phanthavong netted 12 points for PYS.

In Game three, newcomer George's Roasters and Ribs came out on top of Sam P. Electric 63-55. George's may be new to the league, but many of its players will be familiar to area basketball fans. Bram Reynolds and Kirk Webber, who played together on a string of great PHS squads, had 18 and 11 points, respectively, while Jorge Cajigas scored 17. Sam P.'s Mark Peterson led all scorers with 20 points before being ejected from the game.

There will be several good match-ups this week. On Wednesday night, last year's runner-up SMB will meet the always-competitive Café Piazza squad at 9 p.m. George's Roasters and Ribs will get an early chance to see how it stacks up against the league elite, as it meets Tiger's Tale at 9 p.m. on Friday and Café Piazza at 7 p.m. on Monday. All games are played at Community Park.

Princeton Cyclist Rides Length of New Jersey

Last Saturday, Mountain Avenue resident Marti Moseley admits, was "not ideal" for biking. The temperature was above 90 degrees all day, and the humidity was approaching rain forest levels. Nevertheless, Moseley, her riding partner Mark Leadon, and 79 other members of the Central New Jersey Bicycling Club, set out early in the morning on a 204-mile ride down the length of New Jersey, from High Point in the north to Cape May in the south.

At the end of the day, after 14 hours of riding, Moseley and Leadon were the only cyclists who had completed the entire ride. After a lunch break in Allentown, the estimated halfway point, the riders found themselves riding into a stiff headwind.

"We had a headwind through the last 80 miles or so," said Moseley. "Sometimes it felt like we were barely moving." It was the second half of the ride — much of which went through the Pine Barrens — that Moseley found the most difficult. "To land in the Pines in the hottest part of the day with 40 miles of desolate country in front of you, it's tough."

Moseley and Leadon had a reason for undertaking such a long ride on such a hot day: "I thought it would be good training for the Anchor House ride," explains Moseley.

She and Leadon, who have both participated in the annual Anchor House Ride for Runaways for the past two years, will do so again this summer. This year's Anchor House ride begins in Niagara on the Lake, Ontario, Canada, and ends at Quaker Bridge Mall, covering a distance of approximately 550 miles. The Ride for Runaways will last from July 12 through July 19. The ride, which benefits the Anchor House Foundation's work with homeless, runaway, and abused teenagers, raised $335,000 in contributions last year.

Moseley and Leadon give much of the credit for their being able to finish to friends Scott Allen and Jay Bubniak, who followed them in a SAG (Support and Gear) vehicle throughout the day.

Class of '97 Ends Career at Princeton High

We will always be the red-hot class of '97 — the class that defined class," was the message brought ta the graduates of Princeton High School last Thursday by Class President Ruth Petrykanyn. Based on their enthusiastic response, her fellow graduates thoraughly agreed with the assessment.

As the 175 members of the Class of 1997 waited on a small rise overlooking the football field for their orders to march, their friends and family also waited. For many, it was a time of remembering.

"I feel gratified, and very pleased, and kind of tauched by the fragility of the passage," said Albert Raboteau, a professor at Princeton University, whose son Charles was among the graduates.

Prof. Raboteau said he was looking at the children his son had grown up with, and who had been in nursery school with him. "It makes for a poignant moment," he said.

As the music played, the graduates marched onto the field. Their pace was dignifled, but o few managed the sartorial equivalent af a wink and a grin. One wore a straw hat in place of his cap; and the back af a few of the blue caps and gowns sported a blue and white tiger tale.

The wearing of sunglasses is almost a tradition for Princeton High Schaol graduates, and a number wore them. It also made genuine sense, since the late June sun dazzled the eye as it baked the unshaded football field.

Many in the audience held flowers; some had bouquets and others a solitary red rose. A young woman walked by with a hand-made sign festooned with pink bows. "We love you," it said.

The graduates heard Princeton High Schaol Principal David DeVido say he hoped the school had prepared them to mave forward with courage, patience, and a deep respect far themselves and others. He also said that the class of 1997 had set a standard of excellence that future classes will be challenged to match.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

WHEN SHOULD YOU LOWER YOUR ASKING PRICE?

Your house in the Princeton area has been on the market for four weeks. There have been a lot of showings but no bites, so you are wondering if you should consider a price reduction. You want to get as much as you can for your home, but more important, you want it to sell!

This may be the time to have a frank discussion with your Realtor. While price may be a major factor, it may not be the only consideration. Are you making your house easy for agents to show? Have you completed the necessary maintenance and cleaning so that your property is as appealing as possible? Review with your agent the current market conditions and the prices of other homes in your neighborhood before determining that a price reduction is in order.

Even though your price may be competitive, the marketplace may be telling you that buyers just won't pay what you would like to get. If all indicators point to a price reduction, it is better to do it sooner rather than later.

For dependable, individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

The clock ticks on — but not here in this magnificent 100 acre property surrounded by New Jersey Farmland Preservation acreage. At its crown, a wood shingle house c.1720 whose steeply pitched roof and multi-paned windows attest to its heritage. Now on the National Register of Historic Places, its formal living areas and three bedrooms and two baths are enhanced by the addition of a Great Room with walk-in fireplace, remnant of an earlier time. The cathedral ceiling is shared by an open modern kitchen with wood-burning stove and dining area. Broad glass walls, with sliding doors, look out to the brick terrace and breathtakingly beautiful view of a sweeping valley of textured land where time is told only by the changing seasons. A carriage house and smoke house are nearby. And as the land rises to the house, a pond, a barn with five stalls, and paddocks. The owner is to have Life Tenancy. Worth waiting for? Come and see. In Cream Ridge, Upper Freehold Township. $700,000

Monthly payments are for 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below. Please ask about: Lower Down Payments • Lower Monthly Payments • Other Options

For purchase prices up to $258,375, monthly mortgage payments (principal+interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers, based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 7.75% with 3 points, A.P.R. 8.07%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $716.42. For purchase prices from $258,375 to $625,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 7.875% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 8.20%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $3,582.07. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. Interest rates quoted are as of April 2, 1997, and subject to change. Not responsible for typographical errors; while information is believed accurate, we request that the payment be validated with a mortgage provider prior to purchase.

THE BENJAMIN VAN KIRK PLANTATION HOUSE...
A Gracious Page from Montgomery's Past!

Close to Princeton and nestled between two of the area's leading golf courses, an impressive 200-year-old colonial on 3.49 acres preserves the cherished, rural way of life that has long been synonymous with our area!

Loved and cared for over the years by its divergent owners, who all relished the warmth and history of the welcoming house, the dwelling offers an updated way of life among its many private and public rooms.

The formal living and dining rooms from the original house offer beamed ceilings, dramatic fireplaces, and the lovely appointments one would expect. A charming farm-style kitchen done just a few years ago keeps the time-honored tradition.

The master suite of two rooms and bath offers a third fireplace and wonderful views over the southern field which are graced by an inviting pool and gazebo, not far from the stone terrace.

A landmark barn, several outbuildings, screened porch, wisteria-enhanced outdoor dining area, circular drive and many, many trees bestow upon the property its many features... all preserving an ambiance of life as it was once lived and as it should be lived!
